POLAR BEAR CUB MAKES TELEVISION DEBUT

For more than 20 minutes before her debut "Brumas" and her mother "Icy" were filmed into position before the television cameras by a horse meat, thrown to them by assistant bear-keeper Sam Smith. He said that if a building was secured locally the old age pension received by patients would help support it. Mr. Weber said he intended calling a meeting of all benevolent groups within the district soon, and Mrs. J. Robertson, Mrs. W.E. Stiles and Mrs. A. Hogg were appointed a committee to represent the W.I. at this meeting.

MEET YOUR GROCER

So you've already met your grocer and you think you know all about him and his work. He purchases groceries and resells them to you. Simple isn't it! But we have been looking around to find out what goes on behind the scenes.

The first time we thought of this series was one of those days when someone phoned up to complain that we had left his wife's nephew's cousin's name out of the paper and the power went off as the paper went to press and we had four meetings to attend.

We thought we were very hardy used and grumbled away at supper when there came a gentle tapping at the door. It was one of the grocers looking very harassed and trying to check up on an order which had gone astray. The time was after seven o'clock, the order had been astray since four; he hadn't had his own supper. Had the order by chance been delivered to us with our merchandise? No. He went out into the night with the prospect of missing his curling game. We decided then that other people had troubles too.

Anyway that's what started us thinking about the "Meet Your Local Business" series. And from grocers we got a list of irritations as long as your arm. Top of the list is the fact that no one ever thinks there is anything else to do around a store except write bills, take in cash and pass the time of day. There's nothing your grocer likes to do better but there's a lot of paperwork back in his office, not the least of which is figuring out prices from the invoices, checking invoices, filling in invoices, filling out government forms, making up his books, pricing his goods.

If your grocer wears a far away look in his eye it's probably upon the dust he is thinking should be wiped off the tinny goods after the dust storm and the stacks he should be building, the reordering he ought to be doing and the letter of complaint about the last shipment of lettuce, that should be written.

Your grocer is usually a clearing house for messages. One estimated that in a brisk business day he averaged twenty messages for people expected to drop in to his store. And what a noise if he should forget to give one of these messages in the midst of a thousand other things to do.

Then there are customers who loudly proclaim that they can get such-and-such beans in Calgary for a cent less than at their local grocer's but when they find so-and-so beans at a cent less here they quietly buy up all they can without mentioning to anyone that they find things very reasonable in Nanton.

And there are people who get out a whole lot of cans of this and that, change their minds about taking the stuff and if they put it back, place it on the wrong shelves. This variety also manages to slide prices along to another section, disarrange displays and push their thumbs through the tomatoes.

Of course, your grocer adds, there are also hundreds of people who don't remind him that he makes a very easy living, when they have a grievance draw his attention to it quietly and reasonably, pay their bills promptly, thank him for special service, phone their orders in early so that they can be got ready and wish him a Merry Christmas as if they meant it. It takes all kinds to make a world, and Nanton has all of them, says your grocer.—Nanton News.

Peaches The B.C. Peach crop will be very light this year. Estimates are that it will be only about 10% of last year's crop, consisting mainly of Rochesters, Vedettes, Votcrans and Valiants, with very few Elbertas and no J. H. Hales. Elbertas are being imported from California and our last cars should arrive in Calgary about August 8th. Supplies are plentiful at present and we would advise if you wish to preserve these, that you secure your requirements early as present indications are that they will clean up very quickly. Supplies of J. H. Hales peaches are very limited and we would advise placing your order to be filled if possible on arrival.

Raspberries Limited supplies are still available from the Creston district.

B.C. Cultivated Blueberries The season is late but shipments are expected to commence this weekend and will be available for about six weeks.

THRISTLE AND CUTWORM CONTROL

For best results in thistle control, summerfallow should be worked every two weeks right through till freeze-up. To control cutworms, however, the recommendation is that the land be well summerfallowed until the end of July and then left to crust over until the middle of September. The crust prevents the cutworm moth from laying her eggs in the fallow.

In districts where both thistles and cutworms are a problem it is suggested that thistle be permitted to grow to a height of six inches and then treat the new growth about the middle of August with an 8 ounce per acre application of 2, 4-D. This will keep the thistles under control until the flight of the cutworm is over. Cultivation can be resumed after the middle of September and continued at two week intervals until freeze

ADS TO BOOST DAIRY PRODUCTS

Canada's dairy farmers are taking another and more positive look at their margarine "problem." After spending the last year or so and thousands of dollars trying to get margarine banned, again they're now preparing to spend up to $300,000 a year in national advertising to clean up the six per cent gap between milk production and consumption, reports the Financial Post.

Their target—to get each Canadian family to consume monthly: one third lb. more cheese, 4½ pints more milk, eight oz. more butter, one third more of concentrated milks and one more ice cream cone.

The Dairy Farmers of Canada now have 16 advertising agencies bidding for their account which will put them up the list of Canada's 25 top advertisers.

Failure to control perennial weeds is often the result of considering summerfallow operations completed by the time harvest arrives, and neglecting the fallow for the remainder of the year.

Where cutworms are not a problem, cultivation during the harvest season will pay big dividends in perennial weed control.

Canada's Population Nears 14 Million Mark

Canada's population is creeping up on the 14,000,000 mark.

The Bureau of Statistics reported recently that at June 1 the population was estimated at 13,845,000, an increase of 286,000 over June 1, 1949. It was also 2,338,000 above the figure in 1941, when the last census was taken.

Entry of Newfoundland into confederation last year accounted for 318,000 of the ten-year gain.

Excluding Newfoundland's addition, the largest net increase in these years and the largest on record was 318,000 in the 12 months ended June 1 last year.

Estimates for the provinces and territories with 1949 figures in brackets:

Newfoundland 355,000 (348,000); Prince Edward Island 96,000 (94,000); Nova Scotia 658,000 (645,000); New Brunswick 522,000 (516,000); Quebec 3,976,000 (3,887,000); Ontario 4,512,000 (4,411,000); Manitoba 785,000 (778,000); Saskatchewan 871,000 (861,000); Alberta 885,000 (871,000); British Columbia 1,138,000 (1,111,000); Yukon 8,000 (8,000); Northwest Territories 16,000 (16,000).

WEDDINGS

VETTER—OHLHAUSEN

Late afternoon was the hour chosen for the marriage of Miss Thelma Madeline Vetter of Sunnyslope, and Mr. Edwin Reuben Ohlhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ohlhausen of Carstairs.

Rev. W. Huston performed the marriage rites in Knox United Church, Three Hills.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white satin gown styled with a net yoke and a net over skirt and self covered buttons, and featuring a slight train. Her finger-tip veil cascaded from a beaded and silver coronet and she carried a bouquet of red roses and orange blossoms.

The bride was attended by Miss June Warkentin of Sunnyslope, who wore a pale green broadened nylon dress with matching veil and headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations; and Miss Betty Johnston of Sundre, who wore a mauve broadened nylon dress with mauve veil and headpiece, also carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Joy Hauser, niece of the groom, was a delightful little flower girl, dressed in full-length pink taffeta dress, and carrying a basket of sweet peas.

Mr. Gordon Marsh of Carstairs and Mr. Robert Vetter, brother of the bride, were best men.

The ushers were Mr. Bruce Hannah of Acme and Mr. Arnold McCulloch of Didsbury.

Miss Arlene Haste was soloist. Following the church rites a reception was held at the home of the bride, where about seventy guests were received by the bride couple and the mother of the bride.

Rev. W. Huston proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride's going away ensemble was a navy frock and hat with grey accessories worn with a grey top coat, and she wore a corsage or red rosebuds.

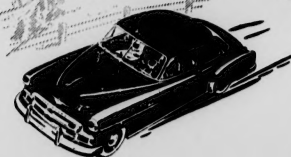

Mr. and Mrs. Ohlhausen left to spend their honeymoon in Spokane and other points in Washington and Montana. On their return they will make their home east of Carstairs.

TRACTOR FUELS

The diesel motor is the most efficient engine for converting heat energy into power at the draw-bar or belt. The higher initial cost of diesel tractors can only be offset through savings in the cost of fuel and by using the tractor a large number of hours per year. The following example is based on Nebraska Test data for one tractor that can be converted to burn diesel fuel or gasoline. Based on present prices and at rated load the fuel cost is about 41¢ per hour for diesel, 67¢ for tractor fuel and 70¢ for gasoline. 1,000 to 1,200 hours of diesel operation per year will adequately offset the higher initial cost and depreciation. —Weekly Letter, Lethbridge Experimental Station.

.. PRINTING

ISN'T PACKAGE GOODS

- YOU CAN'T just reach up and take it off a shelf or rack.
- IT TAKES TIME to produce good printing, and a good newspaper.
- AT THE PIONEER we try our hardest to apply printing skill and modern machinery so that good work can be produced quickly. But it does help if we can have a reasonable allowance of time.
- YOUR ORDERS for printing are always appreciated. And if speed is of the essence we bear down.
- YOUR NEWS ITEMS and advertising orders are always welcome, too. The earlier in the week the better. We do turn out a whale of a lot of type those last hours before the final press run every Tuesday—but is helps considerably if copy comes into the office early. By "early" we mean Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and not later than Monday evening if you want to catch the current edition.
- THANKS for reading.
